CONFERENCE OF COLORED EDUCATORS COMES TO END

Ways and Means of Improving Agriculture Through Medium of Schools Considered.

The conference of colored teachers of vocational agricultural schools called by T. D. Eason, superintendent of agricultural education, to consider ways and means of improving agricultural interests in colored training schools, closed Saturday after a three-day session in the Virginia Normal and Industrial School, Petersburg.

Several counties in the State already have organized training schools for the training of colored teachers of the State. Such schools with departments of vocational agriculture are aided by State and Federal funds. The work of vocational agriculture is under the supervision of the State Board of Education.

The object of the work is the tain.

Washington Kiwanians are making elaborate preparations to entertain the delegates to the second annual convention of the Capital District of Kiwania Clubs, Saturday, October 9. This is the word that comes to Ralph P. Harrison, president of the Richmond club. The Washingtonians promise that something will be doing every minute of the time.

Convention headquarters will be established at the Hotel Washington, across from the Treasury Bullding on Pennsylvania Avenue, and in the heart of the city. There all visiting Riwanians and their wives and friends will be entertained at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon as guests of the Washington club.

Business sessions of the convention will follow immediately. During the afternoon a sight-seeing trip has been arranged for the women in the party. The trip will cover points of interest in the capital.

The evening banquet will be held in the Hotel Washington at 7 o'clock. The Washington Kiwanis Club is well knewn for the stunts in the way of entertainment of which its members are capable and actors and actresses from the city's leading theaters have been invited for the evening.

It is expected that at least 100 Richmond Kiwanians—two-thirds of the local club membership—will go to Washington. This number, of course, would be increased by the friends and relatives of the members who make the trip. The Richmond party will go in private cars and the clubs along the Scaboard, Norfolk and vicinity, will charter a special steamer to make the trip.

J. D. Hank, Heutenant-governor of the district and Assistant Attorney-General of Virginia, and Charles T. Norman, a trustee of the district, will be among those who will attend.

C. C. Bowe, of N. W. Bowe & Sons, has been appointed charman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the trip. The committee is known as the "On-To-Washington Committee."

FOR BENEFIT OF AVIATORS Attractive Program Has Been Pro-vided for Conclusion of Season's Work.

System May He Installed in Connection With Local Branch of Weather Bureau.

Instructions to inaugurate a weather service which would record the conditions of the air prevailing in the upper atmosphere for aviators, and which system now is being installed in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, have not been received here as yet. Edward A. Evans, in charge of the local branch of the United States Weather Bureau, stated yesterday, however, that Richmond is the logical place for location of such a station and declared it as his belief that if an information post for aviators is established in Virginia, Richmond will be chosen.

Mr. Evans said that the idea of having a bureau to gather data on conditions in the air originated in the Far West and that the first of these posts was established at Los Angeles, California. The bureaus gather data on the velocity of the wind in the upper regions and specialize on forecasts of wind and weather conditions aloft. The nethoscope is the name of the delicate instrument which makes possible the prediction of weather conditions in the heavens.

The Store With High Ideals Best Renders The Service and Satisfaction Which Are a Customer's Due

This store keeps before itself the necessity of constantly working for the realization of its Ideals. Sometimes we fail. But each failure to live up to the platform of principles we have set for ourselves is a buoy more clearly marking the shoals in our channel of success.

Correcting yesterday's mistakes in the business of today is the best way we know of serving our customers better and better.

We will not sell you merchandise that we are not sure will be a credit to us and satisfactory to you.

There might be good arguments for selling "cheap" merchandise, but there's no argument in the world that will make it good. And since we'll not sell "cheap" goods, arguments are not on our sales staff. We sell for permanent satisfaction and our best salesman is TRUTH.

Our business is certainly growing, and it is good that the founders of it picked out a growing city like Richmond for
